ABOUT

Lacey Caroline is an award-winning American teen actor born in Charlotte, NC. Of English, Irish, German and Japanese descent, Lacey began following in her father's professional mascot footsteps at a young age and performed as several mini versions of Charlotte based mascots, including at the 2015 French All Star Game in Paris, France. After 7 years in dance and competitive cheerleading, Lacey changed her focus to acting and jumped into the world of community theatre.

Lacey's big break came with her being cast as Mariah in the 2019 Hallmark Hall of Fame movie, A Christmas Love Story directed by Eric Close and starring alongside Kristin Chenoweth, Scott Wolf and Kevin Quinn. Soon thereafter she was named the NASCAR on NBC Kid Reporter which led to additional guest host and reporter jobs with NBC, NASCAR, and the Monster Energy Supercross series. Prior to this, Lacey appeared on episodes of Evil Lives Here, It's Supernatural, on Lifetime's Terror in the Woods and in numerous short films, commercials and music videos. In 2021, Lacey was excited to be named the official NASCAR Kids Reporter where she spent several years interacting with NASCAR's top talent.

Lacey's many film honors include becoming the first youth to win best actress at both the 2021 Made in Carolinas Film Contest and the 2023 LA Under the Stars Film Festival. She also received the 2021 Blaine Miller Filmmaker of the Year award for her contributions to the Carolina Film Community. Lacey's highly anticipated independent project, SUGARCANE, premieres later this year.

“

“Lacey was a joy to have on set. Prior to setting foot on set, we connected over the phone to talk through character and delivery. She heard what I needed from her as a director and delivered the heart, warmth, and complexities on set. She's not just an actor, but a collaborator on character and a great person! I trusted her with the role because of the care and commitment that was obvious on her end. Lacey is a professional through and through while also having fun on set and bringing the levity that everyone needs and enjoys.”

Writer/Director of Take Note

“

“Lacey's ability and optimism shined throughout all of production, and in spite of the tougher subject matter in SUGARCANE and the emotional toll being Phoebe had on her, she never lost her poise.”

Pat Baker

Director of Sugarcane

“

“Lacey is by far one of the most brilliant actors I've worked with. She understands the translation from page to screen and from director to actor. She deeply understands the universal language of emotion and that can be felt in every frame she's on-screen.”

STARRING LACEY CAROLINE

WRITTEN AND DIRECTED BY THE REDA BROTHERS

A person stands in the center of a hallway, illuminated by a bright red light from a doorway at the end. The person's shadow is cast on the floor, which is covered in a complex, glowing red pattern resembling a spiderweb or a network of veins. The walls of the hallway are also covered in this pattern. The overall atmosphere is mysterious and ominous.
